

South Carolina Horsemen's Council

2704 Bridgewater Road
Rock Hill, SC 29730
803-328-8450

What The Council Does For You!

UNITES all owners regardless of breed or discipline on matters that affect the horse industry as a whole.

REPRESENTS equine enthusiasts on issues affecting the equine industry in South Carolina by promoting legislation, ordinances, and regulations that enhance the horse industry at the local, state and federal levels, while occasionally opposing legislation or regulation that is deemed detrimental to the horse industry in the State.

EDUCATES by sponsoring clinics and seminars, and hosting trade shows and conferences.

INFORMS by producing an industry directory, state trail network guide and a quarterly newsletter.

PARTNERS in the community by participating in disaster preparedness plans and sponsoring a youth scholarship program.

PROMOTES the common interests of the horse industry in South Carolina.

What You Do for the Council!

JOIN! By joining the South Carolina Horsemen's Council you add political clout and financial strength to the South Carolina Horsemen's Council which assures that the interests of horse enthusiasts throughout the State of South Carolina, whether recreational, business or personal are protected.

Your membership assures that your voice is heard, and that you are notified regarding issues which may affect you and your horse. Your membership helps to support the efforts of the South Carolina Horsemen's Council on your behalf.

Political power exists in numbers. All individuals, families, farms, businesses, and organizations interested in horses and the equine industry should unite by joining the South Carolina Horsemen's Council to insure that their views are favorably represented to state and federal agencies, the media and the public at large.

The SCHC is the only statewide organization that works to serve the needs of the entire horse industry.
